Sensation and Perception John Harris

Sensation and Perception covers in detail the perceptual processes related to vision and hearing, taste and smell, touch and pain as well as the vestibular and proprioceptive systems. Individual chapters cover separate topics including the fast-developing areas of perception of emotions and attractiveness and recognition of faces, plus newer topics not seen regularly in other textbooks, for example changes in perception throughout the lifespan and pathologies of perception.

Key features:

- Chapters begin with summaries of key topics and questions to aid learning
- Includes key points, spotlights on research, and ‘Thinking about Research’ sections, designed to encourage students to design their own studies
- Chapters close with ‘Test Yourself’ questions, a review of key terms and annotated further readings

A Companion Website offers additional resources for lecturers and students available on publication at:
