With Friends Like These (Circle of Friends) (Volume 2) N. J. Lindquist

Peace-loving Glen found being Charlie's friend difficult; now he finds out how it feels to be Charlie's enemy. After going out with a girl Charlie wanted, Glen knows he'll have to stand up to Charlie or be labeled a coward. For now, though, he's happy his friend Luke has volunteered to be his bodyguard. After being positive she has no interest in Charlie, Nicole wonders why it bothers her when he spends time with her best friend Joyce? Or with annoying Marta? Nicole isn't jealous. Is she? When Luke is injured in a serious car accident and Charlie saves his life, Nicole is more confused than ever and Glen is knocked completely off-balance. It takes a stray dog and a small group started by a local garage mechanic to teach Glen that you can't go back—you have to go forward—even when you have no idea where you're going. Book 2 in the Circle of Friends series. An engaging coming-of-age series that blends humour, adventure, and romance with a search for the meaning of life. The Circle of Friends Series 1. The Best of Friends 2. With Friends Like These 3. A Friend in Need 4. More Than a Friend Reviews "Lindquist draws the characters with skill and warm insight.... Strong moral values and common-sense answers suggested to address everyday problems youths face today." —Christian Library Journal "I had to ask a 16-year-old whether N. J. Lindquist's Circle of Friends series of novels lived up to the promoter's promise that 'real issues and realistic teens' make for a compelling read. And without any prompting, 'realistic' was the word my young informant provided. 'It clarified things that I was doing wrong—and how to fix it.'" —Christian Week, reviewed by editor, Doug Koop "These books are a great tool for sharing your faith and would be a great addition to your home library or your church library." —Debbie Doane, The Old Schoolhouse Magazine "If you got the first book in this Circle of Friends series, you are going to want to get this one, too.... Life is not simple for teenagers. More complications, more relationship interaction." —Crystal E. Miller Excerpt I was walking along the road in just-below-freezing weather, wearing running shoes, jeans, gloves, and a short-sleeved T-shirt, carrying a winter jacket with a nearly dead dog wrapped inside. Great sight. I couldn't see any farmhouses, and I had no idea where the first one would be. I started talking out loud to God. "I sure could use some help here, Lord. I mean, I need a lot of help. But if you want this dog to survive, you had better do something. I know I can't do any more. I'm likely going to get pneumonia as it is. So please, if you aren't too busy, could you help out"... I heard a motor behind me and turned just in time to see a brown minivan speed by. It made no attempt to stop. People are like that sometimes. They walk right by without even seeming to notice you. I wonder if they don't care or if they're just too busy with their own thoughts. "Thanks a lot, God," I said. Then I felt ashamed. Like it was his fault the van hadn't stopped. The person driving the van had made that choice. I heard another motor, and I turned again. It was the tow truck from Winter's Garage, pulling a car behind it. As the truck went past, my heart sank.
