Excerpt from The Scenery of Scotland Viewed in Connexion With Its Physical Geology

My Dear Sir Roderick,

To no one can a new volume on Scottish Geology be more fitly inscribed than to you, to whom Scottish Geology owes so much; nor perhaps can such an inscription come with greater appropriateness than from one who has worked with you, hammer in hand, over many a league of Highland ground, and who is further bound to you by many acts of courtesy and kindness. You are of course in no way responsible for the opinions expressed in the following chapters.
